

George Brill
CEO
Talisen Technologies, Inc.

Mr. Brill is founder and Chief Economic Officer of Talisen Technologies, Inc., formerly AeroTech Service Group, a recognized leader in Secure, Enterprise IT Integration and Collaboration. A graduate of St. Louis University's Aeronautical Engineering program, Mr. Brill began his career as a structural engineer with the US Navy at McDonnell Douglas. In 1991 he founded AeroTech Service Group with personal funds.

He began serving McDonnell Douglas (now Boeing) in 1993 with a secure, electronic collaboration platform which went on to become a corporate technology standard by the late 90's. As an early pioneer in collaboration connectivity and security issues, George Brill has been part of the technical expertise that allows for the ubiquitous transmission of secure information over the internet.

In 2005 Brill adapted the defense technology for a new market – Enterprise Facilities Information Management. Talisen Technologies partnered with Johnson Controls in 2006 to deliver the first Enterprise Sustainability platform for the State of Missouri. The project created a revolutionary type of technology platform for 1000 state buildings (17 million square feet) which enabled substantial savings in Energy, Operations, Maintenance, and Capital spending.

Mr. Brill's primary responsibilities include development and oversight of strategic technical and operational planning for Talisen as well as the development of external relationships for the company. Mr. Brill is part of St. Louis University's Parks College Advisory Board. He is also an Executive Board Member of the St. Louis County Economic Council's Business Incubator Program.

Talisen's growth and success are due to the exceptional experience and knowledge of its employees and a direct result of the vision and leadership of the executive team, lead by Mr. Brill. In 2008 Mr. Brill received the Minority Business Enterprise of the Year Award by the St. Louis Minority Business Council (SLMBC). In fact there have been many awards and achievements recognized over the years. These awards represent the dedication, collaboration and shared vision of all Talisen associates in supporting clients with mission critical, enterprise IT infrastructure.
